As the 'Public Order' and 'Police* are-State subjects vide Entry No. 1 and 2 of LisMI-State List of the Seventh Schedule of the Constitution of India, it is the primary responsibility of the State Governments to maintain public order and peace, including registration, investigation of crime and compiling of data relating to communal incidents.

However, the Union Government have been providing assistance to the State Governments in a variety of ways to tackle such incidents, both administrative and promotional in a sustained manner. This includes assistance in improving their policing infrastructure, sending alert messages periodically, sharing intelligence with them, providing Central Para-military forces, and issuing guidelines from time to time to promote communal harmony in the country as well as advising them to watch the activities of disruptive and fissiparous elements who try to destroy the secular fabric of the country and its integrity.

A booklet containing comprehensive Guidelines covering various aspects of dealing with communal problems, has also been issued. The Union Government have repeatedly made it clear that acts of violence against the minority communities wherever and in whatever form they occur, must be dealt with sternly and the culprits punished promptly.
